

Mission

The Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U.S. Department of Labor is the principal Federal agency responsible for measuring labor market activity, working conditions, and price changes in the economy. Its mission is to collect, analyze, and disseminate essential economic information to support public and private decision-making. As an independent statistical agency, BLS serves its diverse user communities by providing products and services that are objective, timely, accurate, and relevant.

Access the Bureau of Labor Statistics at www.bls.gov.

Vision

The Bureau of Labor Statistics will meet the information needs of a rapidly changing U.S. and global economy by continuously improving its products and services, investing in its work force, and modernizing its business processes.

BLS History

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has provided essential economic information to support public and private decision-making since 1884. Learn about past BLS milestones, anniversaries, and commissioners.

Resources for Job Seekers

Access the link below for: Occupational Outlook Handbook, Career Information for Students, Occupational Outlook Quarterly, Career Exploration Resources, Job Search Websites, and much more.

<http://www.bls.gov/audience/jobseekers.htm>